Trailer number plate frame

The vehicle identification number is useful in acquiring the vehicle history report from your nearest motor vehicles office. The report contains information on your car's model, make, year, past ownership, maintenance and servicing, damage and accidents, title, defective odometer settings, liens and license plate number. Generally, the theft --and return -- of your car is the reason you might need to find the license plate number by using the VIN. Following a few steps will help you find your license plate number from the VIN. Locate Your Vehicle Identification NumberLook inside of the car, particularly on the driver's side. In the spot where the windshield and dashboard meet, you will see the VIN. It may also be located on a sticker placed on the driver-side doorjamb. You can also get your vehicle identification number by checking your car title. Both the car title and registration contain the VIN. Or, check with your auto mechanic or body shop, as these businesses keep records of your car's vehicle identification number. When you buy a car, always note the vehicle identification number so that the next time you want to refer to it, you can access it easily. This is especially important if your vehicle is stolen. Get Your Vehicle History Report.You have two alternatives here: Visit your local motor vehicles agency office to get obtain the vehicle history report in person. Alternatively, visit a motor vehicles agency website, where you can find your vehicle history report online. If you send someone to a motor vehicles office to obtain the report on your behalf, give him written permission allowing the agency to provide him with your vehicle history report. The written permission should include your name and address, VIN and clearly stated authorization to the agency to give the person your vehicle history report. Before you visit, call the motor vehicles office to see if you can make an appointment. Some offices allow you to make an appointment even weeks before your visit, which will greatly minimize your wait time. You will incur some fees at the agency office. Read the Report.Examine your vehicle history report for your license plate number. wv license plate image by timur1970 from Fotolia.com Personalized (or "vanity") plates are available in all states, most provinces of Canada and in many other countries around the world. Most people who own these plates use them to send a message or as a way to advertise their business. In many states, the only way to find out if the letter-number sequence you want is available is by filing an application. Think of a letter-number sequence that conveys the message you wish to broadcast. In most states, the maximum number of figures for such plates is seven, although some states allow fewer. Check with your state's Motor Vehicle Department (online or in person) to find out how many figures you can use. You should think of several variations and be ready to submit them all due to the popularity of vanity plates. Go online to your state's Motor Vehicle Department website. Many states offer an automated search for letter-number sequences. If such a service is not available online, visit your regional Motor Vehicle Department office. Complete the application form to request a personalized license plate. The form will contain a box where it will prompt you to write in the letter-number sequence(s) desired. This form is available online in many states. Pay the application fee and submit the form. The Motor Vehicles Department will do a search to see if the requested sequence is available. If you submit the form in person at the office, the clerk should be able to tell you at that time if the requested sequence is available. The results can take a few days for online submissions. You may change your request if the desired sequence is already in use. Collect a refund of your fee if the requested letter-number sequence is already used in your state. Return to the Motor Vehicle Department with your receipt to collect your refund. If you filed the form online, the website will direct you on how to collect your refunded fee. In most states, there is no limit to the number of times you may file this request. ky license plate image by timur1970 from Fotolia.com It is possible to obtain the name and contact details of a person using just his license plate number. This kind of information comes in handy if somebody has fled after hitting your car and you have written down the license plate number. If you know the state where the license plate number has originated, tracking this information is quite simple. Get the information together. You need to have complete plate number along with the state. You will not be able to locate the person with partial information or car description. Contact your state's department of motor vehicles, abbreviated as DMV. If the license plate's state is different from yours, contact the DMV of that state government (see Resources for its website). Each state's laws and procedures are different. Submit a request application for obtaining public records. You can find this application at state offices, or even through your state government's website. The procedure of obtaining information and waiting time varies from state to state.
